Stephanie joined Vantage in 2017 as executive assistant to partner Michael Tobin. Holding a Bachelor of Arts in Theatre and a Master of Arts in Theatre Education, she has spent the better part of the last decade translating these foundations into the business realm, enjoying projects that assist in managing internal office affairs, coordinating events, or training staff on new office protocol.

Prior to Vantage, Steph spent time in Nashville working in logistics and in Boston managing an education department for a mid-sized professional theater. She enjoys volunteering with organizations that provide educational opportunities to youth.

In her spare time, Steph loves movies, cooking, yoga, travel adventures, spending time with family, working on home-enhancement projects with her live-in handy man, and helping kids with emotional development through playmaking.
