Bonnie Taylor, Ed.D.

LEADERSHIP CONSULTANT

Leadership is more a than title; it is leading with intention, navigating change with strategy, and coaching people to excellence. Given the dynamic world we are in, these are core tenants for Bonnie Taylor, Ed.D. in her work with executive and organizational clients.

Bonnie is a knowledgeable Executive, Leadership, and Career coach and consultant with over eighteen years of experience in higher education, specializing in assisting leaders as they manage organizational complexities and behavior. She has a strong background in leadership development, coaching, team building, skill development, career planning, and strategic planning. Whether organizing workshops to educate individuals on various industry-related topics or assisting teams in creating organizational strategies, she believes in leading with purpose, inspiring excellence, and guiding teams with compassion.

Bonnie helps motivated leaders in various points in their career, from newly hired individuals to senior level executives, looking to increase their efficacy in leading high-performance teams. Utilizing clear and constructive feedback from research-based assessment tools, she aids clients in assessing their strengths and development needs.

Prior to joining Vantage, Bonnie held leadership roles in a variety of senior level capacities. Her experience includes stabilizing departments through challenges and critical intersections of change; creating critical partnerships and shaping company culture; serving as an expert in crafting policy, procedure, and process for organization-wide systems; and streamlining systems and processes to increase efficacy.

Bonnie is originally from Akron, OH and lives in Atlanta, GA with her family. She enjoys reading, traveling, attending concerts, and volunteering with organizations focused on empowering disenfranchised populations.
